No Great County Harm To Crops From Frost; State Sections Suffer

Farm Bureau Manager Kurdt Says Vineyards and Orchards Report No Severe Losses; Accord Area Escapes Frost.

ICE AT MALONE

Temperature at Owl's Head 17 Degrees Above Zero; 22 at Malone; Gardens Blackened.

Albert Kurdt, manager of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, this morning, when asked by a Freeman reporter whether the present cold spell had any ill effects on crops, said that no great damage had been reported.

A few sections were affected by the frost Friday morning, especially the vicinity around the Plank Road where tomato plants and beans were hit, he said.

Mr. Kurdt said southern Ulster, where the vineyards are situated, also a number of apple orchards, had reported no severe damage to his office, and also said that farms in the vicinity of Accord escaped the frost.

Along with being hit by the frost, the Plank Road farms were in the center of the hail storm this week and this did considerable damage to the crops.

State Damage Heavy

Albany, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—Early vegetable crops undoubtedly suffered overnight frost damage in some portions of New York state, A. B. Bucholz, director of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the State Agriculture Department, said today.

"Vegetable men who put in corn and tomatoes early will have damage if the temperature got as low anywhere as 30 degrees," Bucholz said.

The mercury hit freezing, 32 degrees, at its low point last night at the Albany airport, the Airways Weather Bureau reported.

Bucholz said he was unable to estimate the damage done to vegetable crops. Fruit crops, he said, suffered no serious damage in the present cold spell, although cold weather of two weeks ago cut down the number of blossoms, particularly of apples and sweet cherries.

"There was a particularly good set of buds this year," he explained, "and there would be no perceptible loss in the crop at this time, even if the temperature should drop to 29 or 30 degrees."

Update market vegetable growers, meanwhile, expressed some concern over near-freezing temperature of the last two days. They said a light frost would raise havoc with several crops, particularly beans, tomatoes, corn and lettuce.

22 Degrees at Malone

Malone, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—A heavy frost blanketed flower beds and young vegetables here today when the mercury sank to 22 above. It was down to 17 at Owl's Head, traditional cold spot of the state.

A thin layer of ice coated ponds left by last night's rain freeze solid. Last night was one of the coldest for this date ever recorded here.

Saranac Lake reported freezing temperature.

Predicts Democratic Victory

Albany, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—Democratic Assembly leader Irwin Steingut predicted today a Democratic Assembly election this fall, based principally on the social security bill. "The Republicans who refused to approve the social security bill will carry a heavy burden into the campaign," he told Democratic Assemblymen in a letter outlining issues for the fall campaign.

"They must explain why they refused to approve legislation to aid the sick, the blind, the needy, crippled and dependent children, when every single member of their party in the Senate and four of their colleagues in the Assembly voted for it."

Mrs. Keith-Miller Weds

Mrs. Keith-Miller is known throughout the world for her accomplishments in aviation. In 1930 she set a woman's air record across the United States. She has flown in India and all over Europe. Flight Lieutenant Pugh was married just a year ago when the mail plane he was piloting was forced down on the British Channel.

Freemason Weather Predicts

Baltimore, May 16 (AP)—Baltimore turned on its best brand of weather for today's Freemasons. The early forecast was for partly cloudy and somewhat cooler weather for the day. The sun counted however, by shining brightly during the morning hours. The later forecast was for a dry day all day.

Extends "Best Wishes" To New Austrian Dictator

Rome, May 16 (AP)—Premier Mussolini extended "best wishes" to the new Austrian dictator today while a deposed vice-chancellor of Austria sought support from official Rome.

The Italian dictator sent a telegram to Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg as Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, Austrian Vice-Chancellor, deposed in a cabinet shakeup, was reported soliciting Mussolini's support.

Il Duce assured the chancellor that Italy-Austria-Hungary agreements recently renewed at Rome would remain an important factor in the Fascist program.

Italian circles declared Starhemberg, who ostensibly came to Rome to see a football game after his falling out with Schuschnigg, would not be likely to win assistance from the Italian dictator.

"Trouble-Shooter" for Vice Gang on Stand

New York, May 16 (AP)—Snaggle-toothed, flat-nosed Sam "Spike" Green, today told of his career as a collector of the tributes exacted from the earnings of prostitutes in New York city.

Green testified before a jury in Supreme Court trying Charles "Lucky" Luciano and nine others on compulsory prostitution indictments returned by a grand jury in the drive of Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey against organized vice in the nation's largest city.

The witness, pock-marked and scarred, said he was born on the waterfront 30 years ago and did odd jobs until 1912 when he met one "Charley Spinach" who, he said, operated a restaurant and bedtimes booked girls into houses of prostitution.

He drove Charley Spinach around on his route while he was collecting his ten per cent commissions from the madams, Green testified.

Green said he became a "trouble-shooter." The duties of which were to act on telephoned complaints of the madams concerning the girls working there.

Green did not go into details of how these complaints were handled. Standing up from the witness stand he pointed out Abraham "Little Able" Wahrman, sallow-faced little defendant, as one of those with whom he had business dealings. He then testified that James Frederick another of the defendants, called at Spinach's office weekly and collected $50.

Green lamented the fact that last February, because of a few slight disputes in the organization, he found himself operating a bona-fide, genuine cigar stand in a hotel. That was all right, he testified, but just two days after he started his change of ways the police arrested him and he has been in jail ever since as a material witness in the vice case.

3 Persons Perish

Philadelphia, May 16 (AP)—Trapped in the cab of a flaming truck laden with whiskey, three persons perished today. Two were brothers and the third was believed a woman. Two charred bodies were identified as those of Roy Perkins, 32, of Philadelphia, the driver, and Harold Perkins, his brother. The truck's gasoline tank exploded after the vehicle struck a sedan, grazed a taxicab and knocked over a fireplug and a trolley pole in a north-east Philadelphia street. A house and a church were ignited. Firemen prevented serious damage to the buildings.

Little Girl, Aged 11, BROKEN ARM IN A FALL

Janet Schuler, 7, daughter of Henry W. Schuler of 251 East Chester street, fell in one of the class rooms at School No. 5 on Wednesday and sustained a broken arm. She is under the care of Dr. G. W. Rose.

Westchester Opposition

Yonkers, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—The large Westchester delegation to the annual convention of the State Association of Young Republicans Club disclosed today it was opposed to the outright endorsement of any individual candidate for President.

Speaking for the group, Ralph Becker, of Port Chester, secretary of the state association, said the group felt the convention should not be bound expressing preference for a type of candidate and even then, should not express the official will of the young Republicans throughout the state but should act independently.

To Seek Suggestions

Albany, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—Peter G. Ten Eyck, commissioner of agriculture and markets, said today that he would seek from the advisory committee of the milk control division suggestions for a permanent system of regulating the state's milk industry. Stating that he was not interested in any way in the political aspects of this matter, he commended the committee's declaration that he hoped to see "some system of regulation which would largely remove the industry from the hands of its own business."

Bus Owners and Bus Committee Met Friday

The bus committee of the Common Council held a meeting at the city hall on Friday evening which was attended by the owners or representatives of the bus lines using the city streets.

Two sites are before the committee, one the present bus site on Crown street and the other a proposed site on North Front street, opposite the Salvation Army.

It is expected that the bus committee will submit a report on its findings at the June meeting of the council.

Washington Is Silent On War Debts, But Ready To Talk Terms In Europe

Capital Interested in Reading London Reports That Strong British Leaders Seek Debt Settlement; Scaling Urged.

FRANCE APATHETIC

Widespread Discussion in Paris Climaxed by Informed Sources Saying French Action Unlikely.

Washington, May 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt and the state department were silent today on war debts but it was believed they would be willing to discuss European proposals about payment.

This has been the official attitude of the government for some time in the periodic "bills" with which the United States duns the defaulting nations. It is customary to insert a paragraph saying that Washington is "fully disposed to discuss any proposition your government may desire to put forward in regard to the payment of this indebtedness."

The capital was interested today to read reports in London that strong British leaders seek a debt settlement. Earlier cables had brought the news that Leon Blum soon to become France's premier desired to see the debt "misunderstanding" ended.

One of the few comments on this came from Chairman McNair (D-Tenn.) of the House foreign affairs committee, who said the question "should be wiped out by payment of debts."

In a speech last night, Senator Tydings (D-Md.) urged a scaling down of war debts in an effort to assure that this country will get some of the money back and to relieve financial conditions abroad.

European war debts to the United States total $13,670,087,391.25. France's debt totals $4,041,152,328 and Britain's $4,950,595,301.

Debtors Listed
Foreign nations now owe the United States $13,670,087,391.25 in debts chiefly contracted during or immediately after the World War. The latest treasury compilation lists the amounts as follows:

Armenia	$1,509,408.26
Austria	$23,898,429.72
Belgium	$423,479,692.37
Czechoslovakia	$163,482,256.97
Estonia	$18,969,792.79
Finland	$8,544,349.71
France	$4,041,152,328.53
Great Britain	$4,950,595,301.20
Greece	$1,274,340,010.15
Hungary	$2,189,200,190.15
Italy	$2,014,065,143.13
Latvia	$7,807,809.81
Lithuania	$6,985,355.55
Nicaragua	$451,385.26
Poland	$237,390,982.53
Rumania	$63,325,133.26
Russia	$356,481,985.04
Yugoslavia	$61,625,000.

Settlement Desired

London, May 16 (AP)—The long dormant war debts issue came to life anew today with reports that strong British leaders sought a settlement with the United States.

The question was revived here just a day after Leon Blum, France's Socialist leader and premier-to-be, announced he would like to see the debt "misunderstanding" erased, with Paris indicating the first move was more likely to come from London.

In the background of renewed consideration of the problem left by the World War, informed sources said, rested possibility of gaining American assistance in any general economic reorganization to help avert danger of new war.

While government and diplomatic officials scoffed at reports a new move was afoot for settlement of war debts, the Daily Herald said an "influential group" of British politicians was urging a reopening of negotiations with the United States.

Authoritative sources said Britain had made no approach and had not indicated any approach to America on the debt question, with another official denial due June 15.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain provided no money for war debt payment in the new budget. The debts have not been mentioned in the House of Commons since W. S. Morrison, financial secretary of the treasury, defended non-payment after general opposition criticism that the budget

Compromise Revenue Plan Would Boost Income Taxes; Army Supply Bill is Signed

Nominal Income Levy Would be Increased by One-fourth; Boosting Assessment From 4 to 5 Per Cent.

AFFECTS 2,000,000

Program is "Surprise" Move of Finance Committee; War Dept. Appropriation $572,450,000.

Washington, May 16 (AP)—A compromise revenue plan, including a boost in the levy on all persons who pay income taxes, moved today toward a vote in the senate finance committee.

The new program in which President Roosevelt's proposal for taxing undistributed corporate profits would be a comparatively minor feature, was evolved in a surprise move yesterday. Some members felt the committee would adopt it in substance today.

The normal tax on individual incomes would be increased by one-fourth, boosting the levy from the present 4 per cent to 5 per cent. The plan also would levy a flat tax of 18 per cent on all income of corporations, a surtax of 7 per cent on undistributed corporate profits, and apply the normal income rate of 5 per cent to dividends.

The income tax boost would affect a large number of persons perhaps more than 2,000,000, and there was uncertainty about its fate in congress, especially in the house where all seats are at stake in this year's election.

"Compromise" Program

The compromise program was described by Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) as a "compromise" of several members' suggestions and was put forward in an effort to get an agreement from his badly divided committee. But its approval depended upon treasury estimates of the revenue it would produce and a test of strength within the committee over the theory of taxing undistributed profits.

President Roosevelt's tax message, recommended a levy on undistributed profits which would equal the tax which would be paid if the profits were distributed. Treasury experts estimated this would average 33 1/2 per cent.

In the House this was modified to a graduated tax up to 42 1/2 per cent on all corporate income, depending upon how much of it was withheld from dividends. The House adopted the President's proposal for repealing all existing corporate levies, estimated to yield more than a billion dollars.

It was this repealer which met with most opposition in the Senate Finance Committee members challenged the treasury's estimates, and hesitated to repeal taxes yielding such revenue.

Harrison's proposal would not only retain the present tax structure, but boost it to higher levels. Corporate income is now taxed from 12 1/2 to 15 per cent.

Supply Bill Signed

President Roosevelt has signed in to law the $572,450,000 supply bill to carry on the activities of the War Department in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

This is the largest peace time appropriation for the nation's land forces.

The White House also announced today the signing of the bill appropriating $116,450,000 for the state, justice, commerce and labor departments.

The War Department measure includes $32,000,000 for military purposes, part of which will go toward increasing the army enlisted strength to 165,000 men, an increase of about 15,000 from present strength.

A total of 565 new airplanes also are provided for, while $5,500,000 will go toward improving seacoast defenses on the west coast and around Hawaii and the Panama Canal.

The bill also carries $120,750,000 for rivers and harbors improvements. The bill for the four other departments includes increased funds for more men in the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation.

Lockmann Trial Resumed

Catskill, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—The trial of Alfred E. Volckmann, 24, for the murder of Helen Glenn, a clerkman's daughter, resumed for the week-end today, terminating its fifth week. Most of this week was devoted to prosecution rebuttal testimony intended to prove the defendant was sane and sane. Dr. Clinton F. McLeod, of Albany, and Dr. James McLeod, operator of a Kingston Sanatorium, testified yesterday. Afternoon for both sides will be held on the jury next week.

Last Days to Improving

Superintendent R. C. Van Ingen of the public schools, is reported as getting about school at the Kingston Sanatorium where he recently underwent an operation.

WRESTLING WITH TAX PROBLEM

New Paltz Farm Hand Trampled to Death by Frightened Horses

Tilden Mackey, 59-year-old New Paltz farm hand, was trampled to death Friday shortly after noon when a team of horses drawing a sprayer rig became frightened at a tractor which was being used on an adjacent farm. He died before medical aid could be summoned. Besides a broken neck he suffered other injuries.

Mackey had been employed on the Jensen Petersen farm for the past 15 years. The farm is located on the highway south of New Paltz about a mile and a half.

Yesterday Mackey and John Taylor, another farm hand, were spraying. They had taken the spray rig off the main highway a short distance to load up with water. A tractor driven by John Clearwater, who worked on the Martin DuBois farm which adjoins the Petersen farm, came along at the same time. Knowing that his team would be frightened by the tractor Mackey got off the tractor and took the team by the head to lead the horses by hand while the team was led by Taylor.

When the team had passed he started up the motor again and apparently frightened by the noise behind them the team bolted with Mackey hanging on the bit. He lost his footing and fell. After being dragged about 500 feet he lost his hold and was thrown to the ground in front of the team and besides being badly trampled by the frightened horses he was run over by the heavy spray rig.

Taylor, who had started after the team when it bolted, reached the side of Mackey a moment later. The accident happened near the Taylor home and he immediately got his car and placed Mackey in the machine and drove to the Petersen home where Dr. William S. Branner was summoned. Mackey died just about the time Dr. Branner arrived from New Paltz.

Coroner Leon D. DuBois was notified by Dr. Branner and after hearing the story of Taylor and the others who had witnessed the affair issued a death certificate giving "accidental death" as the result of his investigation.

Mackey was thrown forward when the team bolted and struck on the back of his head when he was compelled to release his hold on the bolted animals. After throwing Mackey forward the spray rig continued on down the road and to the barn about a quarter of a mile beyond.

Mr. Mackey was a former resident of Catskill and was unmarried. He is survived by one brother, A. P. Mackey, of Modena. Funeral services will be held from the Funeral Home of J. E. DuBois at New Paltz Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in the Lloyd cemetery.

Employer Contributions

Albany, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—The deadline for first quarter payments to New York state's unemployment insurance fund passed today, and state officials reported employer contributions had arrived "by the bushel." The Albany staff of the unemployment insurance division of the state labor department was increased from 10 to 15 persons to handle the volume of business. A similar increase in volume was reported at the New York office of Glenn A. Brown, executive director of the division.

Y. W. C. A. Drive for $7,000 Gets Off to Enthusiastic Start

Friday evening at 6:10 o'clock there was gathered in the Y. W. C. A. assembly hall an unusually large number of enthusiastic workers with their captains, for the get-together supper of the annual budget campaign of the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell and Mrs. Charles Terwilliger are co-captains of Team 1, Mrs. Myron S. Teller and Mrs. Robin Steele are co-captains of Team 2, Mrs. Alva S. Staples, Mrs. Howard A. The workers were all in their places on time, and presented a most animated picture as they were assembled at the long tables made very attractive with vases of carnations.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Arthur Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

Following the excellent supper—for the get-together supper of the campaign Mrs. Charles Terwilliger will act as the Y. W. director in charge—with singing led by Miss Ruth Bell, Mrs. George N. Wood, president of the board of directors of the Kingston Young Women's Christian Association, welcomed all present and expressed satisfaction and pride in the splendid attendance of captains and workers. She then called upon Mayor Heiselein to officially open the campaign.

The mayor, who was given a very hearty greeting as he rose to speak, said he was very glad to accept the responsibility of officially opening the budget campaign for 1936 for such a worthwhile, active, important and necessary group in Kingston as the Y. W. C. A. and its leaders. He considered all those before him ready to go out on the campaign as public benefactors of the community, for without the Y. W. Kingston would not be nearly as well off as it is.

He understood that they were going out for only $7,000, which was their goal a year ago when they died appointed him as failing to reach such a goal.

New York Man Held On Serious Charge

Fred W. Bachman, 24, of New York city, was arrested about 1 o'clock this morning on Broadway by Officer Frank Sammons, who charged the New York man with operating a car while intoxicated. The car driven by Bachman crashed into the new traffic standard at Broadway and Redwood avenue and carried it forward on Broadway to near Thomas street, causing damage to the standard of $104. The front end of the Bachman Ford car was also damaged by the impact. Later in police court Bachman asked Judge Callahan if he would adjourn the hearing until next week, and the judge set the hearing down for Wednesday, and Fred had on the sum of $300.

'Don't Talk,' Woman Officer Advises Others In Politics

Boise, Idaho (AP)—Mrs. Myrtle Powell Enking, only woman state treasurer in the United States, advises those of her sex who aspire to public office "not to talk too much."

"That's the conclusion I have come to after 21 years in public life," the gray-haired but vivacious little official declared. "And I intend to respect it in my campaign for a third consecutive term."

"I'm not much of a campaigner but I make lots of personal contacts and they are essential in politics."

Mrs. Enking believes the chance of a woman being elected President of the United States is remote.

"Winning the presidency takes years of background and contact with political powers, and men are way out ahead because more men than women like politics," she said.

Mrs. Enking was born "some time since the Civil War" at Avon, Ill., and came to Idaho in 1909 to take a bookkeeping job in a store at Gooding. She married William L. Enking, a Chicago lumberman in 1911 but was left a widow two years later. A son, Harold, is a high school teacher. She lives with her aged mother, Mrs. Margaret Powell.

Mrs. Myrtle Powell Enking, twice successful, plans a third, "talkless" campaign for state treasurer of Idaho.

SERVICES ANNOUNCED FOR OLIVE BRIDGE CHURCHES

Olive Bridge, May 15—The Mother's Day service in the Olive Bridge Church Sunday was impressive. There was a number of outsiders present, and in all a good congregation. Some flowers were donated by the Young People's Society which, at the close of the service, were distributed among the shut-ins. There were others who brought flowers for the service. The Young People will meet at the parsonage on Friday evening for their weekly devotional and social meeting, at 5. The meeting of Friday evening, May 8, was much enjoyed by all present. The mothers were invited to accompany their young people to the meeting in recognition of Mother's Day, which fell on the following Sunday. The devotional period was given to a consideration of elements that make for successful and happy homes. This was followed by a pleasant social hour. It would have been still more gratifying if more of the mothers could have been present.

A thick wall is always attractive. Where pierced by doors and windows the deep "revelation" as the sides of this cat are called, lend a sense of solidity and permanence to a house that an ordinary wall lacks. Not many can afford the luxury of an 18 or 20-inch outside wall, but frequently the wall can be thickened at some inside door without making the building obvious, and the deep effect is thus obtained. If the wall is done enough to make the effect in contrasted greatly.

Bethany Falls Limestone From Huge Missouri Mine

The name Bethany Falls limestone is derived from an eight-foot waterfall over an outcropping at Bethany, Mo. The primary outcropping near Winterset, Iowa, was formerly called the Karthman ledge, and extends southward to Pleasant Hill, Mo., where it is only ten feet thick.

It is encountered at various depths from the exposed ledge enhancing Swope Park, Penn Valley and other sections, to a level of 240 feet beneath the soil surface at Smithville, Mo.

Underneath Kansas City, where the strata are known as the Kansas City series, the Bethany Falls ledge is the thickest, measuring 24 feet through. It is hardest and best just east of the city, and rated next is that mined at Winterset.

Several mines are located within this territory, and Dietz Hill, on South-west boulevard at Twenty-ninth street, is on the western border. Just east of Leode, on highway 40, is an abandoned mine, and others temporarily closed are at Fifty-fourth and Lister and Seventy-sixth and Cleveland streets, the latter now used to grow edible mushrooms, and at Birmingham, Mo.

The Missouri mine was started in the summer of 1927. The hill is 80 feet high and the mine entrance is level with the road. The great excavated caverns are all on one level and extend northward into the hill, the entire mine being 1,500 feet long and 1,300 feet wide. It is 18 feet from the floor to the ceiling. The pillars consist of the limestone not cut away and are 30 feet in diameter. They are set apart 80 feet from center to center, this leaving actually 80 feet of space between them. Air shafts are at convenient intervals, the deepest being 60 feet through the ceiling to the top of the hill, says the Kansas City Star.

Famous Swedish Singer Admitted Lack of Beauty

Jenny Lind, renowned Swedish Nightingale, was no beauty, and well she knew it. Once a German inquired of her concerning the beauty of Swedish women.

"All the Swedes are beautiful," she replied. "It is seldom that one sees anyone like me."

And the reason she gave for her refusal to sing in Paris was this:

"I am too ugly. With my potato nose, it is impossible for me to have any success in Paris."

Yet when she began to sing, an extraordinary change came over her, says Edward Wagenknecht in his "Life of the famous singer. She was transfigured. She became beautiful. Many eye-witnesses testify as to that. Most important of all is her own observation in this connection:

"I become a different body, different soul."

It was Jenny Lind who originated the expression "parlor car," says Mr. Wagenknecht. When she made her triumphant American tour under the management of P. T. Barnum, a special car was designed for her comfort. Jokingly, she called it a parlor car. Shortly afterwards, when Pullman cars were built, the phrase was applied to them.

Jenny Lind used to say that the two most unusual people she knew were the eminent Dean Stanley, who declared, "Madame, I love you in spite of your music," and her own son, who would interrupt her singing with, "Mother, do stop that noise!"

Temperature Isn't All

The weather bureau says that, other things being equal, a temperature of minus 50 degrees would surely feel colder than minus 10 degrees, but one's feelings depend upon many other factors in addition to the temperature—such as state of health, kind of clothing, wind velocity, etc.—and, perhaps above all, upon what one is accustomed to. Mere cold alone is easily endured, but when there is a wide extremely low temperatures are very trying. However, in regions where exceedingly low temperatures are the rule the inhabitants become accustomed to this condition and are prepared for it; they clothe themselves and carry on their daily activities accordingly. The extreme cold causes no more inconvenience or discomfort than zero temperatures do in the South.

Not a Person

The witch of Agnes was not a person, but the name of a special curse characteristic of which were discussed by Maria Agnes in 1745 and named for her. Maria Agnes was a Milnesian, daughter of a professor of mathematics. As early as fourteen, her philosophical and mathematical treatises were read by distinguished scholars. Pope Benedict XIV appointed her to succeed her father in the chair of mathematics at the University of Bologna. She also became a rectress of the Blue Nuns at Milan and ultimately joined that sisterhood.

Robot Phone Time-Teller

When you push a button on the latest German telephone and hold the receiver to your ear, you hear a voice announce, "Ten-thirty-five" or what ever the correct time happens to be. The voice may sound like that of the girl usually employed as a time announcement, but it comes from a robot mechanism. Sound film and sensitive looking to a "robot" which can be trained in the device, which tells the time for as many customers as may be calling at the same moment, says a writer in Gull Magazine.

In one of his stories O'Hara, the famous writer, whimsically described the proper method of holding a stick in the manner "Simply place the stick in your pocket," said he, "and walk slowly through a red-hot kitchen. Then by the time you reach the other side, the stick will be done."

Weekly Farm Paper Review

THE BEST IDEAS FROM THE BEST FARM PAPERS
By WILLARD BOLTE

Today I encountered one of the most dangerous statements that has appeared in any of the prominent farm papers in the last two years. In a story on turkey raising the correspondent of a certain publication made the statement that this particular turkey raiser had discovered that certain strong strains of turkeys were immune to blackhead—the inference being that by securing such breeding stock nothing more was necessary to avoid this turkey scourge. This is absolutely contrary to all of our present scientific knowledge of the disease—and this story will do untold harm.

Poultry Item offers us the history of chick feeding in America in a sort of "nut-shell" form. In 1900 it was corn bread and clabber on the farm and a simple chick mash and scratch grain for those who bought feed. Chicks weighed about 4 1/2 pounds in five to six weeks. Between 1905 and 1910 came the commercial laying mash, which increased livability of the resulting chicks. Alfalfa was added in 1915 — and cod liver oil in 1920. These discoveries increased livability of chicks to about 65% — and brought the weight up to 1 1/2 pounds at six weeks. In 1922 a commercial chick starter was introduced by various large feed manufacturers — which increased livability to 80% and weight to 1 3/4 pounds at six weeks. Soybean meal was added in 1928 — the all-mash ration in 1930 — livability jumped to 90% and weight to a pound at six weeks. The latest improvement has to do with sources of Vitamin A — and we now have arrived at the possibility of 95% livability and a weight of 1 1/4 pounds at six weeks.

Don't guess about the important subject of whether your seed grain is free from dangerous weed seeds. Put every bit of it through the fanning mill—and put it through right. Even the best of fanning mills will not do a good job if the grain is run through too rapidly. Feed it through slowly in a single layer—and do any necessary adjusting when the sieves are empty, as weed seeds will get into the seed grain if you stop the mill with grain on the sieves. Use plenty of air-blast—and don't have the sieves too sloping.—Wisconsin Agriculturist.

A Wisconsin dairy farmer solved the problem of bloat from pasturing early alfalfa by having a few acres of rye pasture during the alfalfa. His cows eat four times as much rye as alfalfa until the rye is green—and by then they are used to alfalfa pasture. When the rye is finished he plants the rye ground to Sudan grass—to help out during August and early September. He reports that Sudan will carry two cows to the acre.—Capper's Farmer.

If a cow is not giving more than 20 pounds of milk per day, it is perfectly safe to dry her up by merely stopping milking, according to tests conducted at the Minnesota Experiment Station. This practice has not caused any undue trouble or affected the yield on the following lactation period.—Kansas Farmer.

A crop of soybeans will not enrich the soil. If cut for hay it removes some of the fertility—and if cut for seed and the straw turned under, the soil comes out just about even. If wheat is to follow, it is necessary to either cut the soybeans for hay or use an early-maturing variety. Oats will successfully follow a late-maturing variety. When soybeans follow corn a cover crop of rye may be seeded in the corn in September to furnish spring pasture.—Ohio Farmer.

In five different feeding tests with lambs on pasture—over a period of seven years—the Alabama Experiment Station found that feeding lambs grain brought an extra profit of but 24¢ per lamb, in spite of the fact that the grain-fed lambs weighed about 315 pounds more than the grass-fed lambs and also brought an average of 80¢ per cwt. higher price. This 24¢ extra profit amounted to $100.00 for the entire 417 lambs involved in the experiments—but it does not look like enough pay for the labor if only a small bunch is being handled.—Southern Agriculturist.

It is no longer necessary to have a special kind of building for housing laying hens successfully. Cornell University reports that almost any building will do—now that we have solved the problem of vitamins and ventilation. After five years of experimental work, their agricultural engineering department has found that for successful ventilation we should allow 1/2 square inch of outlet flue opening for each square foot of floor space, and no outlet should be less than 16 inches square. When large barns are converted into poultry quarters, the outlet flue should reach from the ceiling to a point two feet above the highest point of the building—the intake openings should be below the middle of the pen wall—each pen should have individual inlet and outlet flues—and inlet and outlet flues should have openings of the same size, even though the shape of the opening be different.—American Poultry Journal.

Lambling paralysis, the cause of which is not definitely known, strikes ewes when close to lambing time. Lack of exercise seems to be one of the contributing factors, according to North Carolina Experiment Station, as it is more apt to appear when the flock is kept indoors by stormy weather or deep snow. Until more is known about the trouble it seems wise to force the ewes to take exercise by spreading their hay about the feed lot in small bunches—placing their salt in a distant corner—and feeding a balanced ration, including sufficient calcium.—Sheep Breeder.

The farm papers and the newspapers are full of stories about Bang's disease of cattle and the efforts that the government is making to wipe it out. For this reason the following story from Breeder's Gazette may be interesting to my readers. A Missouri dairyman writes that for a period of eight years his herd produced a total of 2,240 calves and only eighty of them were abortions. Then the lightning struck. In 22 months following March, 1926, there were 242 cases of abortion in that herd. No one knew where it came from—but the results were disastrous. In the following March the first blood samples were tested and 240 of this herd of 650 cows reacted—and were promptly moved onto a distant farm and isolated. A total of eight blood tests were made and it was not until December, 1930, that the herd was completely free from reactors. Cows removed to the isolation farm never recovered from the disease.

Prayer of the Modern Motorist.
 "They are so small, dear God.
 The school bus blocks away—
 Their steps so prone to lag
 At bits of color in the street—
 Make keen the eyes of drivers,
 Stay
 The grinding wheels of trucks—
 Spare us from tiny
 Splintered bones.
 From flesh, like blossoms,
 Crushed upon the stones."

The owner of a small car of ancient model number was vainly trying to start the motor by hand, but the numberless turns of the starting crank resulted in nothing but an ill-humored and breathless owner. His feelings were not soothed materially, when a passing motorist slowed up long enough to shout:

"Why don't you pick it up and shake it?"

We heard of a motorist the other day who drove through a stop sign and when stopped for it by an officer gave the excuse that he had sinus trouble.

Love goes from young people being thrown together in a hammock, maybe, but more likely in the rumble seat.

First Mechanic—Which do you prefer, leather or fabric upholstery?
 Second Mechanic—I like fabric, leather is too hard to wipe your hands on.

One of dizzy dudes had had some exciting experiences while driving his car but he says most of his real tight squeezes happened while he was parked.

Jim—I hear your car has no speedometer.

Sam—But that doesn't matter. At 10 miles an hour the windshield rattles, at 15 the headlights, at 20 the bumper, and at 25 I rattle.

Angels are made at grade crossings.

Policeman (motioning to fair driver to stop)—Lady, how long do you expect to be out?

Fair Motorist (Indignantly)—What do you mean by that question?
 Policeman (sarcastically)—Well, there are a couple of hundred other motorists who would like to use this street after you get through with it.

When driving, remember: "Time you save won't replace life you take."

Respect others' rights.
 Observe traffic regulations.
 Drive carefully.

Man—Well, how are you getting on now that you are married?
 Friend—Oh, it's just like the Garden of Eden.

Man—I'm glad to hear that.
 Friend—Yes, we have nothing to wear and daily are in fear of being turned out.

Continually warned against it, there are people who continue to try over spilled milk although they are not in the dairy business.

A minister visiting in the country was awakened early one morning to the tune of "Rock of Ages."

When he went down for breakfast he said:

Minister—Sister Sarah, you must be an exceptionally good religious woman, singing so early in the morning and knowing all the verses of that wonderful old hymn.

Sister Sarah (laughing)—I'll just have to tell you, I don't have a clock in the kitchen, and it takes "Rock of Ages" sung twice for soft boiled eggs and four times for hard boiled eggs.

SWEDEN DEVICES NOT TELEPHONE FOR SUBMARINES

Stockholm, Sweden. (AP)—A submarine buoy telephone, by which a sunken craft can communicate with rescuers, has been adopted by the Swedish navy.

An ordinary telephone instrument is enclosed in a buoy that can be released to rise to the surface when a submarine is sunk by accident. The buoy, carrying telephone wires from the submarine, is equipped with a flashlight to attract attention on the water.

Another communications novelty is the "larynxophone," which receives sound impulses from the larynx of the speaker, and hence is not affected by nearby noise.

It is designed for use in such places and engine rooms and airplanes where there is so much noise that the speaker's voice would be drowned in an ordinary telephone.

"Here look! Puffy says, 'on the edge of a swamp. Come, come, my dear friend, this is as close to ROMP.' A look of remorse like the crocodile's."

They breed for the house at a very quick pace.

Farm and Home Bureaus

Lake Katrine.
 There have been two meetings of interest in the Lake Katrine Home Bureau recently.
 The first was held at the home of Mrs. Hubert Brink. There were six members and three visitors present. Miss Parsons handed out some mimeographed information and cards to assist the members with their thoughts and suggestions for next year's program. Some of the projects of particular interest to this unit were: Music appreciation, crocheting, budgeting of household expenses, hospitality and refreshments for afternoon tea and evening parties, household accessories or metal work, dry cleaning, wise buying of foods, knowing how to wear articles of clothing, slip covers. The members voted to start their study course in "Personality" in the early fall. This is a continuation of Mrs. Clark's "Emotional and Nervous Behavior" project.
 Miss Parsons was ready at this time to give the second lesson in "Consumer Buying." However the program planning took so much time that this lesson was postponed.
 A business meeting and lesson in landscape was held at the home of Mrs. Pratt Boice. This was attended by Mrs. Hubert Brink, chairman; Mrs. Mary Munson, Mrs. Rupert Everett, Mrs. Edward Sagendorf, Mrs. Earl Sagendorf, Mrs. Graham Par-

'Happy Days' Up To Farley

Convention Music Makers Pass The Buck

Philadelphia. (AP)—Four hundred musical recordings are ready to entertain delegates to the forthcoming national Democratic convention, but they don't include "Happy Days Are Here Again" or "M-M-M—Would You Like to Take a Walk?"

Representatives of the organ company which has installed a giant instrument to entertain the crowd hastened to explain that a recording of

"Happy Days Are Here Again" would be obtained immediately if President General James Farley wants it. The selection was the theme song of the 1922 convention.

Organ company spokesmen said no convention organist has been named and the company has not been notified that the assembly will rely entirely on the recordings for organ music.
 The organ, one of the few of its kind in the country, can be played either by one or two organists or by a recording arrangement, which manipulates the instrument much as a player piano is guided by a roll. The organ will be one of the latest and best heard musical instruments of the modern world.
 Housed in four chambers in the organ, the organ is really a combination of five organs: great, swell, choir, solo and pedal. The first four are contained in separate rooms, with the pipes of the pedal distributed among them. The organ, valued at $75,000, is of such volume that it could be heard at a distance of two and one-half miles of cleared-out-downs.

Democrats Seek Vainly for Texas Donkey Mascots

Brownsville, Tex. (AP)—This border country, once so well populated with donkeys that certain sections were named for the animals, finds itself donkeyless in a time of need.
 A former representative of the Women's Press Association of Washington, D. C., left here recently to recruit after searching the province for a dozen donkeys for the Democratic convention at Philadelphia this summer.

One section near Brownsville was named "Jackass Prairie," because donkeys roamed wild over the lands. Many of the animals were shot and others drove off across the Rio Grande for sale in Mexico.

A unusual effect, suitable for a modern room, may be obtained by having two-sized walls. One boundary had a living room finished in grey and white. Two walls of one color, and two of the other. A border of black and red went around the entire room.

The 10th anniversary of the chapter will be celebrated May 25. A special program is being arranged by the worthy matrons. Members will turn in envelopes containing a penny for each year the chapter is old.

Associate Matron Mrs. Jennie DuBois expressed thanks for sympathy shown by donors and cards during her recent bereavement. A letter of thanks was received from Adonal Lodge, F. & A. M., for the $25 contribution from Highland Chapter for the carpet fund. Individual gifts for the grand matron's project are to be turned in by June 3, the closing meeting of the chapter.

Ice cream, cake and coffee was served in charge of Mrs. Hilda Ferguson, Mrs. Florence Harris, Mrs. Beadie Hutchins, Mrs. Elmer Fisher, Mrs. Ralph Johnson. Committee for the birthday party: Mrs. Joseph Decker, chairman; Mrs. Lived Place, Mrs. Ethel Bradshaw, Mrs. Harry Maynard, Mrs. Elton Tompkins.

Many garden flowers are grown in pots for indoor use. The acclimation is a slow process. It is best to have a window for many weeks with a group. A morning glory will climb around a sunny window and give much color, and some of the petunias make a good showing indoors.

SHOKAN

Shokan, May 15.—H. H. Vincent, who resided in the old village, previous to waterworks days, called on friends here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Bostock of Byrn Athyn, Pa., are spending the week at their country home on the mountain road.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Palen and Miss Edith Gerahy of New York, also Miss Constance Colgate of Bolleville, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Justus North and family. Mr. and Mrs. Palen during their week-end visit paid several calls on other relatives in this section.

The teacher and pupils of the Shokan school are presenting a Mother's Day and health program at the schoolhouse at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

State milk law inspectors were here Wednesday and it is reported that they apprehended several persons who were delivering bottled milk without a license.

James A. Hartvig and family returned to New York Monday after spending the week-end at their summer home overlooking the west basin of the reservoir.

Andrew Krott has a fine purebred Guernsey yearling bull at his place on the Ashokan mountain road.

Miss Kate Walton, retired Kingston school teacher, writes local friends from Walton's Grove, near Hurley, that her diary reveals a visit and series of long walks here 20 years ago. Miss Walton, who is a native of this section, formerly was an enthusiastic hiker and mountain climber, having scaled some of the highest peaks in the Catskills.

Contractor Justus North is building a small addition to the farmhouse of Baptiste Nadal in the heights neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDermott and three children returned to Brooklyn Monday after spending a week in the village center.

May 14, 1936, a convention of the Olive Town Sunday School Association took place at the Shokan M. E. Church. The meeting was called to order by Hugh Donohue, president of the association. The opening prayer was by Thompson Eckert and Scriptures reading was by the Rev. P. W. Finger. The principal address was made by the Rev. C. W. Clowe, pastor of the Shokan Reformed Church. Others taking a prominent part in the convention included: Parr Harlow, Mrs. A. A. Zabriskie, Mrs. Inez Dumont, Mrs. Albert Brown, the Rev. John H. Fyfe, Mrs. Alonzo Coons, N. Watson Bishop and Mrs. Tina Lasher. Reported membership of the various schools: Bolleville Union, 36; Brown's Station Reformed, 53; Krumville Reformed, 49; Samsonville M. E., 72; Shokan M. E., 51; Shokan Reformed, 53; West Shokan Baptist, 76; The Vly M. E., 55; Tongore M. E., 48. Average attendance of scholars was 48 per cent.

All vegetation is luxuriant as a result of the frequent showers recently. Trees show the beneficial effect at this time, the season of their most rapid growth. The outlook is encouraging for a big hay crop and the milk yield is comparable with the received on June pasturage. A disadvantage is the soggy ground in low-lying fields, delaying planting operations in some cases.

Mrs. E. C. Burgher, teacher of the Shokan School and P. N. G. of Olive Rebekeah Lodge No. 470, has been elected delegate to represent the lodge at the annual New York State Assembly, to be held next week at Saranac Lake.

Farmers report seeing a brown beetle, a little larger than the familiar striped potato bug, frequenting the apple tree branches on which the tent caterpillars are nesting and feeding. The beetle has not been observed in actual contact with the worms but it is thought, and hoped, that he is a potential destroyer of the pests.

It now develops that Woodstock is aroused over the milk truck menace on the main street of that village. Shokan residents have had to bear with this safety hazard for the past two years and were considerably relieved when a number of the trucks began going by way of Woodstock. Twenty tons, more or less, of milk and metal, charging down the grade through the peaceful burg at a lively clip, is something our folks positively do not want here.

For the maiden voyage of the new luxury liner Queen Mary, which arrives in New York June 1, newspaper editors and radio executives have arranged news coverage more complete than on any initial crossing heretofore.

NOTICE OF CLOSURE OF SCHOOL
 A notice is hereby given that the session of the city of Kingston has adjourned for the summer vacation. The school buildings will be closed for the summer vacation from June 1 to September 1, 1936.

Fashions and Household Hints for Women

Dainty Nosegays Are Favorites

Fresh Flowers For Street Wear Should Harmonize in Color With the Costume.

Favorite flowers for street wear this year are dainty nosegays of little flowers, chosen to harmonize with the costume. The fashion is well shown in the bunch of yellow daisies worn on an olive green suit in the illustration.

Fresh flowers are entirely displacing artificial blossoms in fashionable wear. It is becoming universally recognized that the effect which they contribute to the ensemble can no more be duplicated by imitation flowers than can the brilliance of real gems be matched by imitation jewels.

To the carefully planned costume flowers contribute not only an accent of color, and decorative form, but freshness, fragrance, and the intimate quality of beauty which is alive.

To be effective, however, flowers should always fit in with the design of the costume, and contribute to the same end, which is not to attract attention to themselves but to enhance the charm of the wearer.

The size of the bouquet is important. It should not be too large, on a small woman, or too small on a large one. In color, the flowers should be harmonious, either blending with the general costume, or providing a contrasting accent of a complementary color.

When well chosen, and properly worn, the simplest nosegay may be as attractive as the most expensive. Violets, gardenias, sweetheart roses in tight little bunches; several carnations, bound together to resemble one large bloom, and the smaller orchids, in little bouquets, are some of the popular arrangements for street wear. They are worn without paper collars or lace. They may differ in price according to the materials but who can say which is most beautiful? Any and all are equal to the task which they have to perform, which is to echo and enhance the beauty of the wearer.

Where the stem of a flower can be put through the lapel of a tailored suit, a clever device to prolong the freshness of flowers is being extensively used. It is a tiny glass tube with a rubber top through which the stem of a flower can be thrust. The tube is filled with water and fixed on the stem, hidden by the lapel, keeping the most fragile flowers fresh throughout the day.

'Dress Up' Trend Of Smart Beach Wear Sounds Death Knell Of Nudist Effects

Young America seeking to achieve allure is turning to beach outfits like the one pictured above which combines a "dress-maker" swim suit having fairly full trunks and a fitted top, with a dress of the same material for lounging hours. It is made of soft blue green rayon patterned in brown and white circles and is worn with a brown scarf.

By ADELAIDE KERR.

New York (AP).—When smart young America goes to the beach this summer it will cover up more skin than last year and "dress up" more than ever before. The 1936 suits for swimming and lounging blaze an independent trail.

Gone are the nudist effects achieved by a bandana around the bust another about the hips, and a wide expanse of epidermis in between. Most of the suits have a bare sun-tan back cut out to the waistline, but they are "all there" in front and are not too abbreviated as to trunks. They follow a "dress up" trend which is both new and smart. The days when Mademoiselle put on any convenient bathing suit and headed for the water are no more. The 1936 idea is to "dress" for the beach in a suit which shows off its wearer to the best advantage. Suit, figure and face unite to achieve the desirable allure.

Rich cravat silks, bright flowered chailis, soft figured rayons and gay pebbled cottons are used to make the new suits, cut with short, fairly full trunks or designed as a mail-top topped by a brief skirt. Tops fit the figure in front and are often bare to the waist in the back. Some of the suits are made over thin wool materials to give them weight.

Crinkled rubber suits and elasticized satin suits which cling to the figure in shimmering sleekness like a mermaid's scales also are much in the swim. Standard wool suits remain in favor. They are shown in a low backed mail-top often topped by a detachable skirt with crinkled elasticized waistline.

Fitted full length coats, often made of the same material, and finished with trim revers and buttoned fairly close about the figure are worn with the swimming suits. There are also short loose toweling coats in white, bright colors, dark hues or striped effects which are as multi-colored as Joseph's coat.

Calotte Frocks Favored.

Slacks are shown in great numbers for lounging hours on sunny sands. They sometimes appear with cuffed trouser hems and tailored tuck-in shirt tops—all made of navy shantung or one of the crisp new canvas-like rayons in which, beige or yellow. Culotte (divided skirt) beach frocks of linen and shantung also are much in favor.

Close fitting rubber turban caps, rope and raffia sandals and canvas pouch beach bags comprise the rest of the beach paraphernalia.

For Solid Comfort

The attractiveness of any room is marred if one has to be conscious of its furnishings at all times and worry about where to put the cigarette ashes and glasses. Comfort should be the first thought in planning a home. To the discriminating this will also include beauty, for the home that is not attractive cannot be truly comfortable. Deep and restful chairs, but practical ones, are the order for the room in which the entire family will spend many of its leisure hours. Convenient tables should be sturdy enough not to impair the nerves of the hostess when she sees a careless guest placing a wet glass on one. Proper lighting is another essential factor.

CAREFUL WASHING MAKES BRISTLES LAST

The bristles in any brush must be good at the start. If they are to last a long time. But once you have picked out a good brush, it is up to you to see that the bristles have a good, long life.

No ammonia should ever be used in washing water. If the brush becomes very dirty, a little borax may be mixed with the water. But the best way to wash brushes is to dip them into the water and wash with a toothbrush which has been dipped in water and covered lightly with a mild soap or its equivalent. Wash the brushes with the toothbrush, trying to keep the backs of the brushes from getting wet.

Never leave the brushes to soak in water. After they have been thoroughly cleaned, rinse them by dipping them up and down in the water and then wipe the backs thoroughly and leave to dry in a warm place.

Washing brushes frequently is much better for them than having to scrub too hard and infrequently. They will last for ever so long if treated carefully.

A COLD WATER CURE FOR BURNED FINGERS

If you have burned the food you were cooking, chance quickly to another pot and set the vessel in cold water. This will take the burned taste away. Then the dish may be reheated and made ready for happy consumption.

Paste pretty rubberized cushions around the wash bowl to hide the ugly plumbing and make your bathroom a bit and pretty affair. The material washes easily and may be selected to suit the color scheme of the room.

Flowers Add Final Touch To Table.

A Simple Table Arrangement which You Can Make at Small Cost.

Flowers for the table, without which no entertainment at luncheon or dinner can be successful, need not be costly. Given good taste and a sense of harmony, an attractive decoration can be made by the hostess herself from a few inexpensive blossoms.

The flowers need not cost as much as the salad, and how much they add to the occasion. Too many flowers really spoil the effect. The most exquisite harmonies can be developed by properly combining colors in the cloth, the flowers, the candles, the decorations, and containers.

In the table decoration illustrated spring flowers are used. The bouquet pictured was composed of dainty pink and orchid sweet peas, yellow daisies and daffodils, or, as the designer calls them, jonquils. The quantities required are: 12 pink sweet peas, 12 orchid sweet peas, 3 yellow daisies, 4 yellow daffodils. Even if you have more than use made, the flowers can be used in other places in and about the home.

Sweet peas from the florist are at a premium at this time of the year, and their lovely colors are at their best in combination with the pink and yellow daisies. Both are orchid harmonize beautifully with pale yellow. You might use either pink or orchid candles, or a cream or pale green cloth with a daisy pattern. Other attractive combinations will occur to the hostess who has an eye for effective color.

In arranging the flowers, avoid crowding and stiffness. Each flower should stand out from its companions. A diagram of the arrangement ment illustrated is given, so that it may be reproduced accurately, if desired. In the diagram the figure 1 indicates jonquils, 2 pink sweet peas, 3 yellow daisies and 4 orchid sweet peas.

This centerpiece is only eleven inches high so does not obstruct the view of persons seated around the table. Any good flower holder placed in the bowl will hold the flowers in the exact position that you wish. The pink sweet peas form the basis of this centerpiece with the mass of yellow daisies placed close together. The jonquils add yellow highlights which are made even brighter by the orchid colored sweet peas grouped among them. The ingenuity and attractiveness of the arrangement shows the flowers to best advantage and makes it most interesting.

Orchids is a just high you encounter in each book but seldom see. It is added to parties in flower, but should be many. That a packet and a new flower in spray and

Interesting Wall Of Glass Bricks

Admit Light, But Maintain Privacy

A glass brick window may hide an unsightly view

By MARGERY TAYLOR

(Copyright, 1936, by McCall's Magazine For The Freeman)

We'll have to stop throwing stones, because in the next few years, too many of us will be living in glass houses.

Real glass bricks are being used for building—at present perhaps more for the inside than the outside of houses. Certainly the decorators have greeted the new material with joy, and skill.

In one dining room, for instance, one whole wall is made of glass bricks—a striking background for cactus and other plants set on glass shelves.

But why glass? It has a lot of advantages in its new form which makes it very desirable for building. The new glass bricks are not transparent but translucent. They admit soft, diffused daylight, but keep absolute privacy. The surface is, of course, easily cleaned. The glass bricks provide fine insulation against heat and cold; they are resistant to fire and cut fire hazards. They are impervious to air and gases and to attacks by moisture, acids and vermin, and they do not absorb odors or grease.

All of which means that the home designers are already encasing kitchens and bathrooms in glass bricks and using them between rooms. For rooms with unsightly views, these bricks make ideal windows, letting in light but not sights.

There is no fragile look about glass brick walls—they are not at all like large thin sheets of glass.

Surprising lighting effects are being designed with glass bricks—columns, corners and niches, with the light shining on or through them.

Why Lilacs Do Not Bloom

By the Master Gardener

Since the lilac is so widely grown, the reason for lack of bloom is a frequent question. This may be caused by any one of several factors, or a combination of these factors. The principal reasons for lack of bloom are:

1. Too much shade. If a bush is set close to a house or fence so that it does not get much sunshine in the course of a day, this may be a contributing cause.

2. Starvation. The bush may be growing in a soil that is practically devoid of plant food.

3. Failure to remove old flower stems after blooming. If you will remove the old flower stems immediately after the bush is through blooming, cutting them back to the two buds just below the old spray, it will induce good bloom for the following year.

4. It may be that the bush is a type of lilac that does not bloom freely, although this is unlikely if it was secured from a reliable nurseryman.

5. If the bush has not been thinned out properly and excessive suckers removed from the base, the growth may be so thick that there is not sufficient vitality for good bloom.

To assure a sufficient supply of food, apply a complete balanced plant food to established lilacs in the early spring. Surface application should be made on the entire area covered by the spread of the branches, at the rate of one rounded tablespoonful per square foot of space. Apply evenly, work into the soil, and soak in well. Repeat the application in about six weeks.

(which will be after the bush has bloomed), using half as much as above.

If your lilacs are not doing well, you might also inspect the bark for signs of scale, and be on the lookout for borers. Scale insects must be controlled by spraying. Consult your nurseryman or seedman for the proper spray to use. Borers may be destroyed by injecting carbon bisulphide into the burrows with a medicine dropper and plugging up the opening; or the affected branches may be removed.

Another point to remember in connection with lilacs is that they prefer a soil approximately neutral or slightly alkaline in reaction. They do not thrive where the soil is acid, and sometimes it is necessary to apply lime to get the desired soil reaction. Small inexpensive test kits are now available for soil testing.

PERSONAL TOUCHES

WELCOME HOUSE GUEST

Before the guest arrives add a few little touches to the room to show you have thought of the tastes of the individual. Place the books you think your guest will like on a bedside table, together with a good reading light. Be sure there are enough hangers and if you cannot spare a whole bureau, clear out at least one drawer and leave space on the top of the bureau for the guest's own little odds and ends. Have a pin-cushion there with several sizes of safety pins, and also a needle and enough thread so that the guest can take a necessary stitch or so.

HOT AND COLD WATER

LOOSENS BEET SKINS

To remove beet skins quickly and effectively put the beets in very hot water for a brief time. Drain off the hot water and then place the beets without delay in cold water.

Game and Study Room

This room was created in a corner of the office at a minimum of expense. Walls were painted in ivory tone and the color of the room depended on the bookshelves and the bright upholstery of the furniture. Funds for painting the room and providing the electric outlets were provided under the terms of the Rehabilitation Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration. It was the aim of the home-owner to spend as little money as possible in creating the room.

Colonials to Meet Port Jervis Red Sox, Orange Co. Champs, Sunday

The first game in the move to give Kingston semi-pro Sunday baseball will be played at the Pan-Am diamond on the Saugerties road Sunday afternoon, when the newly organized Kingston Colonials will meet the strong Port Jervis Red Sox.

The Red Sox are semi-pro champions of Orange county and will present one of the strongest line-ups in that region. Becker, fast ball artist, will be on the mound for the visitors. The Federka and Orlando brothers, all noted former Port Jervis High School stars, will be in the line-up for the Red Sox.

Manager Fred Davi of the Colonials has gotten together a strong team to represent Kingston. Warren "King Kong" Shackelford, former Saugerties star, will start the pitching for the Colonials, with Ted Freulich in reserve. Joe Hoffman will be behind the bat. Carpenter, Davitt or Terwilliger, Turk and Niles will make up the Colonial infield. Joyce, Tiano, Knight and Lay are available for the outfield.

Bill Schwab will call play at 3.15 sharp, as umpire in chief, and County Treasurer Pratt Polce will toss out the first ball.

Just to make things certain for the home team Paul "Sure Shot" Freer has been adopted as mascot for the Colonials.

Stantons Vs. Napanoch Chevrolet Sunday

The Stanton Brewers, who opened their season Sunday by taking two games from the Maroon All Stars, will travel to Napanoch Sunday to play a game with the Chevrolet of that place.

The Napanoch team, playing as the Graham Superchargers last summer, have always had a strong outfit and presumably this year will be no exception.

Bud Zoller and Ben Toffel, who have been showing good form, will be ready when called upon by Manager Bernato for pitching duty, with the heavy-hitting Jim McElrath behind the bat. The Chevies will probably use Quick and Blackwell as their starting battery.

A bus will leave Bert's Grill at 12:30 p. m. to take the Stantons and their followers to Napanoch.

Expect Fast Time At 46th Running of The Preakness Today

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore, May 16 (AP)—The eyes of the racing world were focused on Pimlico today when Bold Venture defends his laurels, won in the Kentucky Derby, in the $25,000 Preakness.

There was no Brevity in the 46th running of the one and three-sixteenth mile test out four of the three-year-olds which called Bold Venture at Pimlico today. He was ready to take another crack at Mortimer L. Schwartz as along with a half-dozen other which have shown their worth in competition and morning workouts.

Fourteen were named in the overnight entries but not more than ten or eleven were expected to parade at about 5 p. m. (eastern standard time).

Leading the beaten derby delegation were Granville, William Woodward's son of Gallant Fox which threw his rider at the start of the rough-riden derby, and Grand Slam from the Bonar stable. The Wheatley stable's Toulet stablemate and conqueror of the stretch running Granville in the Wood Memorial, and Mrs. Silas B. Mason's He Did, winner of the Santa Anita derby, completed the contingent.

At the head of the new aspirants for three-year-old honors stood Memory Book, star of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable, Jean Bart, son of Man o' War from Walter M. Jeffords' barns and E. R. Bradley's Bow and Arrow, seeking to give his master his third victory in the classic.

Of the others, only Hal Price Headley's Hollister back where he won the Pimlico Futurity last year, and Snark, another Wheatley colt which has not raced this year, were considered certain starters. Mrs. Marion du Pont Somerville's Transporth, Mrs. W. W. Vaughan's Knight Warrior, Edward Bruner's Anoid and Giant Killer, stablemate of Jean Bart, were not expected to accept the issue.

Track officials expected a crowd of more than 40,000 to the rambling grandstand on the outskirts of the city.

Coriell Hull, secretary of state, Marvin McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt, Speaker of the House Byrns, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice and a host of senators and representatives headed the delegation from the nation's capital.

With the weather man promising fair weather and a fast running strip, the record of 1:58 1-5, set by High Quest two years ago, was in danger. Bold Venture's time of 2:03 3-5 at the Downs was the third fastest derby ever run.

Despite Bold Venture's derby victory there were many experts who predicted that he would be beaten—either by Memory Book or Granville. With the exception of Bow and Arrow, Grand Slam and Jean Bart, the others were lightly regarded.

Z. & S. Play Pioneers Sunday at Fair Grounds

The Zwick & Schwartz All Stars will open their baseball season Sunday afternoon at 2:30, at the Fair Grounds, meeting the Cidsi Pioneers.

Manager Longendyke says that the Z. & S. will present a strong aggregation this year and will play the leading pro club in this section.

They will take the field Sunday with the following in the line-up: Hank Krom, Charles Monfro, H. Kropel, Johnny Coluch, Jim Steiker, Al Buchanan, Tom DeBrosky, Jimmy Albano, Kas, Lukas, Mike Carpino, Ralph Ellsworth, pitchers Harry Gelsier, Jimmy Manro, Ken Best, Lefty Longendyke, Bob Bush.

Knuckling Down

Sport Slants

The injury to Third Baseman Frank Higgins of the Athletics was unfortunate, but if the accident hadn't happened Connie Mack might not have discovered that he had in Russell Peters one of the best looking youngsters to come up in the American League.

As it was Connie Mack was desperate and was forced to gamble on the untried Peters. The youngster from Albany, of the International League, was just one of many obscure rookies on the roster at training camp. His minor league record was anything but impressive. But when he stepped into Frank Higgins' spot at third he did a neat job of filling the veteran's shoes. He fielded his position every bit as well as Higgins had, and at the plate hit well above the .310 mark which the latter was battling when forced to the sidelines.

Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Browns, picked Peters and Buddy Lewis of the Senators as the two best-looking prospects to come up in the American League this season.

Peters had a brief tryout with the Senators in 1933, but Clark Griffith was not impressed. With Albany last season he hit a mere .212 in 83 games. He's a big fellow and plenty fast.

No one will begrudge Connie his find.

A Rookie At 29

Another newcomer to the Athletics has caused a bit of a sensation in the American League. He is Harry Kelley, a 29-year-old rookie pitcher. His prize effort so far is the 3-hit game he turned in to beat Wesley Ferrell and the Boston Red Sox. He has won two victories already and looks like a real pitcher.

Kelley has been knocking around in professional ball for a long time—thirteen years to be exact. Eleven were spent in the Southern League. Mack picked the pitcher up last fall in the draft after he had won 23 games while losing 13 for Atlanta. He worked in 44 games, pitching 319 innings.

Years ago, Kelley had a trial with the New York Giants but failed to make an impression on John McGraw. His curve was not enough, he was told. He needed speed, or something to take the place of speed. For years he struggled to master the knuckleball. When he finally developed his knuckler to the point where it was a valuable weapon, big league scouts passed him up as a bit too old for the big show.

Nearly Overlooked

The chances are that Connie Mack would have passed Kelley up, just as the others had, had it not been for the fact that he was able to pick him up cheap at the draft price. And then Kelley turned up a winner! There are surprises to this game of baseball, even to an old-timer like Connie Mack.

Plenty of Southern League observers rate Kelly a better pitcher than Al Milnar, the Cleveland rookie who was a sensation in the Southern League last season with a string of 17 consecutive victories. Kelley's earned run average of 2.5 would indicate that he was a pretty good bet out there on the mound.

Peters and Kelley are not going to make the Athletics pennant contenders—not this season at least—but they have given the Philadelphia fans something pleasant to talk about these lean days.

'FISHY' PICTURE OPENS FISH STORY SEASON

Fred Kramholz "officially" opened the fish story season at Ashtabula, Wis., by exhibiting this 17-inch trout, covered with fur. He calls it a "furry fish" and claims he caught it in a northern lake. When veteran Schumacher scoffed, Kramholz replied: "That's my story and here's the evidence." (Associated Press Photo)

Tagging Major League Bases

By ANDY CLARKE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The pitching mound is a dangerous place to be these days with the major league batters taking all sorts of liberties at the plate.

For a pitcher to work a complete game is getting to be something of a rarity and many an ace finger, not accustomed to be driven from the mound, has seen his choice offerings pasted with abandon by the men who awe the clubs.

Only three of the 16 pitchers who started yesterday saw their task through. The White Sox beat the Yankees, 9-7, blasting out 24 hits, four of them home runs; a total of 26 hits was made as the Senators beat the Browns, 10-5; twenty as the Athletics downed the Tigers, 6-5, and 21 as the Indians beat the Red Sox, 7-2.

In the National circuit, the Bees beat the Cards, 7-5, with 25 safeties, the Phillies conquered the Cubs, 11-6, with a grand total of 30 blows, and the Giants shut out the Reds, 2-0, with 15 hits bouncing off the bats. The lowest hit total in either league was 13, batted out as the Pirates beat the Dodgers, 6-2. Altogether, 13 homers were hammered out.

The only pitchers to start and finish were Jim Weaver of the Pirates who lined the Dodgers to four safe blows, Buck Newsom who gave the Browns nine hits and Oral Hildebrand of Cleveland who gave the big guns of the Boston Red Sox only six hits.

Newsom was the only Washington player who did not hit against four Brown hurlers but he more than made up for his lack of batting effectiveness. He fanned 11.

Van Lingle Mungo, the Dodgers No. 1 twirler, was the victim as Weaver went on to victory. Mungo lasted seven innings during which all the Pirates' runs were scored. Weaver shut out the opposition until the eighth inning when Linus Frey banged a homer with one on.

Johnny Marcum was pounded out of the box in the third as the Indians unlimbered their artillery for seven hits and five runs at his expense. Earl Averill and Hal Trosky hit homers, Trosky's being his seventh of the season.

Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee rookie, continued his amazing batting with two doubles and two singles. Johnny Broasca, the former Yale star who was expected to be an important member of the Yankee pitching staff this year, was knocked from the box for the fifth time this year.

Hal Schumacher pitched fine ball as the Giants won, allowing the Reds only five hits, but he was taken from the box in the ninth after he developed a streak of wildness.

Tommy Bridges, one of the mainstays of the Tigers' pitching staff, gave way to Roidie Lawson in the seventh inning after he had been nicked for seven hits, including two home runs and two doubles.

LeRoy Parmelee of the Cards was slugged for ten hits and all but one of the Boston runs before giving way to Ed Heusser in the fifth while seven hurlers saw duty in the Cubs-Phillies slugfest match.

Terry Leads Batters In the Major Leagues

New York, May 16 (AP)—Bill Terry of the New York Giants continued to lead the batsmen of both major leagues on the basis of games played through yesterday but the high average he maintained earlier in the season has been on the decline since he reached home. Leslie and took his regular turn at the plate.

Terry leads the plate with a semi-official average of .480 while in second place is Billy Sullivan of the Indians who leads the American League with .457. Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, batting for .402, is in third place in the National League and he has the best average of any major leaguer who has played in 24 or more games. Not one of the first four batters in the American League has been to the plate more than 65 times. Buddy Lewis of the Senators, in fifth position, has been up 104 times for an average of .394. Medwick has batted 102 times.

Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee rookie, has come up into contention for the batting honors, his four hits in each of the Yankee's last two games having boosted his average to .420 and put him in second position in the American circuit.

Kaslich A.C. Defeats Berardi A.C. For Their Second Victory This Week

The Kaslich A. C. seems to have gotten on to the winning road, as they chalked up their second City League victory for the week, in their game against the Berardi A. C. last Friday night. Briefly, the Kaslichs made more hits and fewer errors and the result was a score of 7 to 5 in their favor.

Pucker Davis was on the mound for the winners. He struck out six men and allowed but four hits. He was in trouble in the third, when he struck a batter, allowed two hits and had two errors behind him, the combination yielding four runs.

Spot Cullen pitched the first three innings for the Berardis, but was replaced by Chick after he had yielded five safe hits and seven runs had been chalked up against his delivery. He gave way to Julius Chick, who pitched the last four innings and held the uptown boys scoreless.

The Kaslichs made two runs in the second on singles by Flanagan and Stumpf and good base running by Flanagan. The winners got their five markers in the third as a result of poor work in the field by the Berardis, two free passes and singles by Minasian, Merritt and Messing.

Trouble loomed up for the Kaslichs in the third, when a hit batsman, a stolen base, errors by Burgevin and Merritt and singles by DeCicco and Tiano resulted in the Berardis scoring four runs. They got no further, however, until the last inning, when they scored once on errors and an infield out.

A. A. A. SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Headquarters, 17: DeMoley 1.

Captain Preston's pitching and the team's powerful bat proved too much for the DeMoleys in their softball game against the Headquarters Battery, played at the Fair grounds Friday night and Headquarters won 17-1. Bushnell, pitching for DeMoley, was hit freely, North getting two homers.

B. P. W. Defeats Royal Arcanum.

The winners got to Townsend for a homer, by Bobby Cullen, two triples by Raskoskie and doubles by Lewis and Dederick. Batteries were Townsend and Cornelius for the Arcanum; J. ### Golf Match At Wiltwyck Sunday

The first inter-club golf match of the 1936 season will be held on the Wiltwyck Golf Club course on Haverly avenue, just over the city line, on Sunday when the local golfers will match strokes with the members of the Windham club, and all members of Wiltwyck Club who wish to compete should report to Ray Thompson, chairman of the tournament committee, at 10:30 Sunday morning, at which time the matched teams will be made up. It is expected that Windham will bring down all their best golfers and the local club hopes to match them man for man. A number of visiting ladies will also be on hand and a lunch luncheon will be served to all who compete. Anyone interested in golf will be invited to visit the course on Sunday to view the play.

Now a lot of other small enterprises will be expanding into "empire" and those that swell up too fast will rot.

K. H. S. Tennis Team Loses 5-0 In Match With Newburgh Team

The Maroon and White racquetsters suffered a severe setback at Newburgh Friday when they drew a complete blank in their match against Newburgh Free Academy players.

Newburgh presented one of the strongest squads in years and Kingston failed to win even a set in either singles or doubles. The Kingston players found the strong cross-court wind which prevailed a severe handicap and were also unused to playing on turf which was rough and wet.

In the singles Belcher, Sveraky and France were vanquished in straight sets by D'Aulito, Tighe and Osterhout of Newburgh.

Kingston's No. 1 doubles combination, Belcher and Nekos, fell victims to the drives of Tighe and Osterhout, in straight sets, 5-2, 5-2. France and Gordon, the other Kingston combination, were taken over by D'Aulito and Schanck, 6-3, 6-4.

17 Crews Meeting In Carnegie Regatta

Princeton, N. J., May 16 (AP)—Seventeen crews met today in the Carnegie Cup Regatta, to be climaxed by the cup race between the varsity shells of Cornell, Yale and Princeton.

With crews revamped and dopers confused, all three eight found supporters as the race drew near. Each has been beaten this season.

Cornell, which had been set up as a slight favorite by many observers, put Don Hart back as stroke of the varsity shell. He had been pacing the Jayvee for a fortnight.

Princetonians, praising the latest workouts of the Tiger eight, conceded no one anything. Their coaches stood pat on the ranking.

Yale, on the other hand, shook its crew up considerably and supporters of the Blue took heart therefrom. Dick Davies took the stroke oar, displacing Captain James Powers, who moved up to No. 2, and Bob Belknap went into the bow.

The Regatta launched Princeton on its second quarter century of rowing on Carnegie Lake, the gift of Andrew Carnegie.

Six races were on the program.

Charles Henke Going To Williams Lake

Charles Henke, the popular physical director of the Y. M. C. A., finished his duties at the "Y" last evening. Mr. Henke came to the local "Y" last October and since that time he has made a host of friends both for himself and for the association.

During the summer Mr. Henke will be located at Williams Lake, where he will have charge of the water activities. Having recently been appointed by the American Red Cross to be in charge of swimming and life saving activities of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, Mr. Henke will conduct several swimming and life saving courses at this popular swimming resort during the summer months.

The board of directors of the "Y" had hoped that the recent campaign for funds would make it possible to keep a physical director on for the entire year but sufficient funds were not secured. The directors are particularly anxious to have "Chuck" Henke back in September as they feel that it is impossible to do justice to the work of the physical department without a trained director in charge. It is the hope of the directors that a special fund can be secured to make this possible.

Due to the fact that the association will be without a physical director, gym classes will be discontinued for the summer. For the time being swimming periods will be continued under the supervision of C. S. Schoonmaker or Noland H. Fuller.

Delmer Kelly Heads The Lions Club

Kingston now has a Lions Club, this service group having been organized locally, Friday night at the Spencer Business College, Fair street. Delmer Kelly, assistant principal at the school, was elected president.

Other officers chosen were: Eugene A. Tetzlaff of Montgomery Ward, secretary, and Gordon A. Crink of the Kingston Trust Company treasurer.

Speakers at the meeting were D. C. Cain of the International office at Chicago, John E. Harrison, president of the Poughkeepsie club, and R. Donald Allen, first vice president of that group.

The charter for the Kingston Lions will be presented at next month's meeting. When and where it is to be held will be announced. This meeting will be attended by delegates from Lions in Saugerties, Newburgh, Cornwall, Highland, Poughkeepsie, Washington Falls, Newburgh, Hudson, Gardiner and Shiloh.

The major activities of the Lions is to assist those with poor vision. Clubs exist all along the Hudson river.

The aroma of fresh baked apple dumplings is their silent but potent magnet.

JOE AND JIM POLITELY SHAKE

Jimmy Braddock, heavyweight champ, was on hand when Joe Louis celebrated his 22nd birthday at his Lakewood, N. J., training camp, where he is preparing to meet Max Schmeling about five weeks hence. Jim and Joe were on their good behavior—but their next meeting may not be so pleasant. (Associated Press Photo)

Tree Planting Program Completed

The tree committee appointed by Mayor Helseman, of which Sidney Clapp is chairman, has completed its tree planting program for this season. A total of 537 trees were planted along the city streets and 1335 were set out in the new nursery at the City Farm for future use.

The trees, mostly hard maples, were given as follows: In memory of Laura Reiner Palen; by Henry Brandow, Marius street; Schuyler Schultz, John G. Van Etten Estate; and Gus Flicker, Lucas avenue. The committee appreciates the gift of these trees and were pleased that more were offered than could be planted this year, as the season advanced too rapidly.

The work was done by boys of the National Youth Administration, together with Victor Minnecy of East Chester street and Robert Stone, 108 Abel street, both High School boys who volunteered their services under direct supervision of Edgar N. Palen, a member of the tree committee.

The transportation and general supervision was furnished by the Board of Public Works under Superintendent David Conway and by Charles A. Richter in charge of the actual planting.

It is estimated that there could be planted to advantage on the city streets between three and four thousand trees. Next year the committee plans to continue its tree planting program. A tree is a living thing and must have care. These trees have been planted at a considerable expense and the very least the householder can do is to see that they are watered frequently and otherwise protected. Three or four stakes should be driven along side and the tree tied loosely to the same.

Stratosphere Balloon 'Talks' to Operators

Helsinki, Finland (AP)—A new type stratosphere balloon, little more than a yard in diameter, promises to make possible observations miles above the earth, even in uninhabited regions like the polar lands.

The balloon, carrying an apparatus which automatically telegraphs air pressure and temperature at regular intervals, reached a height of almost 15 miles in a test flight here.

Hailed as an innovation in stratospheric exploration, the new apparatus weighs less than 14 pounds, including the sending equipment.

The equipment, invented by Dr. Vilho Vaisala, comprises two balloons, one inside the other. They contain a thermometer, an aneroid barometer and a small radio sender. The sender is powered by two small storage batteries. Recovery of the balloon is not necessary to the success of the experiment as the readings are telegraphed as they are made.

The Finnish Geophysical Association intends to send a study excursion to Spitzbergen this year to make temperature observations in the stratosphere with Dr. Vaisala's invention.

Potato Growing in New York

The apple may be the king of all fruits, but the "spud" is the leading cash-crop vegetable grown in New York state. Nearly three-fourths of all farms in the state grow this crop.

A Cornell bulletin, written by a potato specialist, tells how to grow this crop successfully, what varieties to choose, when and how to plant and to cultivate, and how to fight diseases. Even the home gardener may find the bulletin helpful.

Dr. Eckener to Stay In Germany Tonight When Zeppelin Leaves

Frankfort on the Main, Germany, May 16 (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, veteran Zeppelin commander, decided today to remain in Germany and not to accompany the Hindenburg tonight on its second regular transatlantic flight to the United States.

His decision had no connection with his controversy with the Nazi propaganda ministry.

Before landing at Frankfort after the Hindenburg's first record round-trip between Germany and America, Dr. Eckener told the Associated Press:

"I doubt whether I shall go to America next time.

"For one thing, weather conditions at this time of year are so good that frankly the trip does not interest me.

"I am interested in studying unusual meteorological conditions and drawing the necessary lessons from them. Air conditions on the North Atlantic are something concerning which we have little information. I shall continue my North American trips when there are prospects of something more unusual in the way of atmospheric conditions.

"Secondly, there is so much business accumulated in connection with my presidency of the Zeppelin Company that I must devote my energies to that."

Captain Ernst Lehmann, in direct command of the Hindenburg, said he also probably would stay on the ground soon and let Capt. A. Priess or Capt. A. Sammit command the giant ship between Frankfort and Lakehurst, N. J.

"I am badly needed at the Zeppelin wharf in Friedrichshafen to hasten construction of the LZ130," Captain Lehmann said.

"Priess and Sammit know the job of piloting as well as we older men. Or we might have Captain Hans Von Schiller, who now commands the Graf, take over command of the Hindenburg."

Forty passengers registered for the second voyage to Lakehurst, and the Hindenburg, pronounced in perfect condition, took on its fuel and freight.

The great air liner will leave its base again at 8 p. m. (2 p. m. E. S. T.) tonight for America.

The Hindenburg made its first flight from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst in 61 hours, 52 minutes, and returned from Lakehurst to Frankfort in 48 hours, 3 minutes, arriving here Thursday.

Washington Is Silent On War Debts

was balanced only because the debt was unpaid.

Informed sources believed sentiment for a war debt settlement—involving a total debt of $13,670,087,391.25, on which all debtor nations except Finland have been in default—has developed since Italy's triumph in Ethiopia.

France Apathetic

Paris, May 16 (AP)—Widespread discussion of the war debt question arose today after Leftist Leader Leon Blum declared he would like to see "misunderstanding" effaced, but informed sources said any move to renew negotiations was more likely to come from Britain than France.

Reliable sources said strong sentiment for settlement of the issue had developed in England since Italy's Ethiopian conquest as a means of effecting closer friendship with the United States and improving chances of American support in the event of an emergency.

Informed sources saw significance in the fact that Blum's remarks to the American Club yesterday came shortly after a conference with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in which the two statesmen discussed the general international situation.

Blum criticized "distortions and misinterpretations" of his remarks to the American Club after reports circulated that he planned to ask new war debt conversations.

His supporters said he had no such intention, but was anxious to have the problem out of the way and would consider British or American proposals to that end.

Termite Damage in U. S. Over-Estimated

With the coming of Spring the Forest Products Division of the Department of Commerce is again receiving numerous requests, according to P. A. Hayward, chief, for information regarding termites. Whereas a few years ago the homeowner had never heard of the termite, though the insect was present as much then as now, and lived in peace, comfort, and complacency in his home of wood, he has of late been frightened into believing that his home may be damaged. The possibility of there being termites in one's home, according to Hayward, is very slight. Certainly there is little risk if the homeowner will but make use of a few simple control methods.

It is true that in a technical sense, the termite exists in one species or another in almost every part of the United States. It is also true that in certain favorable environments an appreciable amount of termite damage actually occurs. According to Dr. T. E. Snyder, senior entomologist of the Department of Agriculture, and the world's outstanding authority on termites, there has not been, however, an invasion of the United States by tropical termites. Neither is the termite situation in this country getting any worse. It is simply that the public has in recent years become aware of termites.

Further, according to Dr. Snyder, termite infestation in a building may exist for years without appreciable damage. If a building rests on a masonry foundation all that is necessary is an inspection once or twice a year; the removal of any adjacent debris, and the breaking off of the easily seen shelter tubes built by the insects over the masonry. Care should be taken that mortar is of the best materials and workmanship, however, else there may be entrance through it. Incidentally, the above physical form of control, according to Dr. Snyder, is considered preferable to the use of chemicals.

The termite is not, therefore, to be dreaded as is a scorpion or a peacock. In the first place, serious damage by the insect is largely confined to limited sections of the United States. In the second place, occasional inspections and the observance of a few precautionary methods if home construction will prevent any termite damage.

Twelve People Hurt In Accidents Here

Twelve people were injured, seven of them pedestrians and five others in three automobile accidents. Chief of Police J. Allan Wood reported at the monthly meeting of the board of police commissioners Friday evening.

The board after a discussion decided to make public each month a statistical report on local accidents. The report last evening showed that there had been a total of 115 accidents in the city in April, of that number 13 were women. There were two arrests on counterfeiting charges, one for arson, 21 for public intoxication, one for abduction, 13 for disorderly conduct, and other arrests on various charges.

Commissioner Carl M. Preston has agreed to again act as instructor in a series of police shoots to be started early in June. Last season 27 members of the department qualified as marksmen, and were awarded silver bars to wear on their uniforms. This year similar awards will be made to those who qualify.

Mayor Thatcher of Albany extended an invitation to the board to attend a safety exhibit to be held in that city on May 22. The board accepted the invitation and as many as possible will attend.

Several routine matters were disposed of and the board then adjourned.

Attended Motion Picture

On Friday evening four units of boys and four units of girls of grades and high school, who belong to the classes in better motion picture appreciation being sponsored by the Kingston Council for Better Motion Pictures, attended the picture "Gentle Julia" starring Jane Withers at the Broadway Theatre. The 42 young people were chaperoned by Mrs. Fred P. Luther, chairman of the Kingston Council for Better Motion Pictures, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Goertz, the secretary of the Council. Each unit of the girls or boys was headed by a captain and all reported having a very happy and interesting evening.

Presentation Here of "The Ninth Guest" Was Well Received

"The Ninth Guest", a play in three acts by Owen Davis, was presented by the Kingston Theatre Guild Friday evening in the Municipal Auditorium with the following cast:

Mrs. Margaret Chisholm ..... Marianne Price
Dr. Murray Chalmers Reid ..... Karl Limbacher
Jason Osgood ..... James Martin
Peter Daley ..... John Burgeson
Tim Salmon ..... Harold Maccholdt
Sylvia Inglesby ..... Shirley Silverman
Henry Abbott ..... Albert Milliken
Joan Trent ..... Alma Gross
Hawkins ..... George Betts

The third production of the Kingston Theatre Guild, "The Ninth Guest", was staged before a large and responsive audience in the Municipal Auditorium last evening, the biggest audience thus far to witness the dramatic ability of the group of players who constitute this newly formed school of local acting. With a cast composed entirely of Kingston players, the show rocked along in the best tradition of death dealing melodrama and offered the audience a maximum of mystery, suspense and moments of obvious bewilderment. The setting was the living room of a New York city penthouse with eight men and women, all bearing some special hatred for one of the members present, and all equally anxious to determine who the host of the odd assorted party could be. All eight soon discovered the affair is a well planned trap for they are no sooner seated than a voice from the radio informs them that the ninth guest is both death and the host and that many will die before the evening terminates. There is no escape, explains the calm radio voice. The doors are shot with electrical current and the only hope of salvation is for the eight guests to pit their intelligence against the scheming mind of the unseen ninth guest. Such a state of affairs naturally throws several of the guests in a well known dither as the show becomes a heated series of accusations followed by death. Each guest suspects the other and one by one the cast is eradicated through suicide or baffling murder until but three are left. The play works itself up into a dramatic climax and the ending is fairly logical with the killer ending it all by drinking poison as the curtain blocks out his successful effort at suicide.

Much credit should be given the Guild Players and the technical staff for the hard work entailed in staging a play of this scope. The settings were especially noteworthy and the entire cast moved through their difficult assignments without losing or amateurish gestures. The cast was forced to battle the misfortune of poor acoustics and Broadway traffic during the evening and it was to their credit that the audience remained attentive and interested in proceedings throughout the entire performance. If there was one flaw in the Guild presentation, it might be placed in the handling of the play's many climactic episodes. The players had a tendency to work up many moments of great excitement and then leave the climax of that excitement hanging as high and dry as last Monday's wash. Taken as a whole however, the play was smartly presented and intelligently directed. It offered a type of diversion well worth seeing and Kingston people would be well repaid to patronize future productions of the Guild. Last night's audience received the work of the cast with a warmth and enthusiasm that should make the entire unit feel well rewarded for the labor and effort the production necessitated.

One performer contributed a standout performance in the role of the brooding Dr. Murray Reid. Played by Karl Limbacher, his characterization was a poised and polished performance and Mr. Limbacher's work stamped him as a Guild player of real dramatic talent. Others who contributed well rounded performances were Marianne Price, Shirley Silverman, John Burgeson and Alma Gross.

PEARL HARBOR TESTED AS NAVAL REPAIR SHOP.

Honolulu (A.P.)—Testing the efficiency of Pearl Harbor repair facilities, four navy cruisers have been assigned for annual overhaul here this year. Orders have been given the Richmond, Portland, Minneapolis and Louisville to come here during the summer. Heavier craft may follow.

Strategically centered for vessels disabled at sea, Pearl Harbor repair activities have been increased recently. They are to be augmented by a $2,000,000 floating drydock, destined to make the navy yard one of the most efficient in the west.

Events Around The Empire State

Rochester, N. Y., May 16 (A.P.)—Protests against the Hall bill legalizing dog racing in Monroe, Erie and Nassau counties were forwarded to Governor Lehman today by opponents, hastily organized after the measure passed in the final session of the legislature early Thursday.

The Rochester Federation of Women's Clubs contended dog races were cruel to animals and "degrading to public morals." The National United Committee for Law Enforcement, under the signature of Clinton N. Howard, nationally known dry leader, termed the bill "special and specious legislation."

Goshen, N. Y., May 16 (A.P.)—Good Time Park, scene of the famous Hamletton trotting race, is being transformed into a motor speedway for a 100-mile dirt track automobile race here next month, which will bring crack drivers from throughout the country.

William H. Cane, sponsor of the race to be held June 13, said the track is being safeguarded so that the grand circuit and Hamlettonian trotters can return in August.

Next month's motor race here is expected to attract many drivers who will participate in the Indianapolis speedway classic on Memorial Day.

Harrisonville, N. Y., May 16 (A.P.)—Heirs of Rurt W. Hughes today were rejoicing over the discovery of a tin metal box, heavily padlocked, which yielded $17,500 in bonds. The box was found beneath the floor of a building on Hughes' farm.

Opened yesterday, it revealed seventeen $1,000 and one $500 United States government bonds, made out to Hughes before the World War.

The Sinking Boat.

River Boat, Ulster Park, N. Y., May 16, 1936.

To the Editor:
I would like to correct Mrs. Sylvia Weber's letter of May 15, 1936. After Boat D-36 left the lighthouse his motor stalled and the boat drifted across the river, while he was trying to start his engine. The driver waved and called for help, so I started my engine and proceeded to his assistance. Before I reached him, he called, "Please hurry, my boat is sinking." He came into my boat and transferred his motor and tools while I pumped the water out of his boat. Furthermore after I towed him to the east side of the river, he not only thanked me for saving his motor but also insisted I take a reward.

As Mr. Overton, Wallace Proffers, in this episode, it is impossible for Mrs. Weber to know exactly what took place. Therefore, it is true that we saved the sinking boat.

Yours very truly,
NORMAN ROHAN.

3 Persons Are Dead As Result of Savage Battle In Virginia

Gordonville, Va., May 16 (A.P.)—A savage gun battle that lasted far into the night left three persons dead today, one a white officer, the others an aging negro and his sister who toppled wounded or slain, into the funeral pyre of their burning cottage.

Five officers and posse members were wounded, three of them so seriously as to require treatment, before a posse member crept close to the negroes' tenant home and set it afire.

As the flames rose they silhouetted the armed figures of the two negroes, who fell a moment later to be consumed by the flames.

The dead: Sheriff William B. Young of Orange county.

William Wales, 65, the negro.

Cora Wales, his sister.

Sheriff Young was shot to death by Wales during the afternoon as he and State Patrolman S. L. McWilliams tried to arrest the negro on an accusation of a wealthy white woman, Mrs. George Zinn, that he had threatened her with a gun in a nearby cemetery.

Young was felled by a bullet in the heart, and McWilliams was wounded in the arm and leg.

Other officers in the party summoned state officers and a posse of citizens which swelled at the height of the battle to nearly 300.

Sergeant Wayne Carr made a rush to help McWilliams to safety and was hit himself.

He and McWilliams rolled under the porch where they lay for some time out of range of Wales' fire. Other officers reached them under cover of machine gun fire from state police and dragged them to safety.

C. L. Young, brother of the sheriff, was shot in the jaw as he dashed toward the cabin to retrieve the officer's body.

Oscar Munday, Somerset, Va., policeman, was struck in the arm and back by a steel jacketed bullet which penetrated the steel body of a truck he tried to drive against the cottage to screen an attack.

A fifth man, C. W. Buchong, was treated for a wound believed to have been received accidentally from a posseman's gun.

As machine gun fire swelled in the play of searchlights from various fire departments upon the house, a state officer crawled close to an out-house and flung his burning shirt, which he had dipped in gasoline, into the building. The fire spread rapidly to the cottage and the final burst of shooting followed.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS &amp; SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The cameras purr on in their sound-proofed boxes, catching such scenes as these:

Lionel Barrymore is portraying a lawyer disguised as an old woman in the thriller, "The Witch of Timbuctoo." Lionel makes a convincing old lady with his snowy white wig and his flowing skirts. He is playing a scene with Maureen O'Sullivan, his daughter in the film.

There is another "old woman" on the set, smoking a pipe with gusto. This is Lionel's stand-in. For him, there was no make-up problem as there was with the star. Whenever Lionel got into his dresses, he looked like his sister Ethel. Several make-ups were tried, and finally by slight changes in the contour of his forehead, the resemblance was avoided. It would never do, of course, to star one Barrymore and appear to present another.

Leo Smith, one of the best trick photographers, is shooting the picture, which is full of tricks. Smith tells of his memorable poker game on the St. Louis Cardinals' train while he was back east shooting "Murder on the Diamond." It seems Smith held four eights while Dizzy Dean held four aces. Dizzy never has forgotten it, and Smith hasn't been allowed to forget....

It is a fairly typical day on "Balls of Bullets"—fairly typical because most of the movie gangsters are around. William Keighley is directing Humphrey Bogart and George E. Stone in a scene in which Foxtrot is testing a dictaphone through which he hopes to spy on Edward G. Robinson in an adjoining room. Bogart face lights up as he says "It works!" He has heard Robinson whistling—then his ears are split by the crash of a pistol, fired Robinson into the dictaphone's ear.

Actually Keighley has whistled, and fired the pistol, behind the camera. Robinson is resting somewhere, and Barton MacLane is looking on.

A recreation room is rapidly becoming an accepted part of many homes. Basement, attic or the main part of the house provides space that may be converted to this use. Plans of new homes frequently provide for such a room.

Jockey Fator, Killed In Fall, Had Won Over $2,000,000 in Races

New York, May 16 (A.P.)—The career of Jockey Laverne Fator, one of America's outstanding turf stars, was ended today with death resulting from a serious illness and a two-story fall from the window of a hospital at Jamaica, Long Island.

Fator, who was 36, had been irrational from peritonitis following appendicitis, and yesterday, when his nurse returned to his room with a glass of water he had requested, he found him lying in a stone courtyard, 40 feet below the window. His skull was fractured.

At his side when he died last night were his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sande. Sande, noted jockey, formerly was one of Fator's turf companions.

Fator, who learned to ride on ponies at Haley, Idaho, came east about 18 years ago and within a short time had won for himself wide recognition as one of America's leading jockeys. By 1931, when he virtually retired from the saddle, he had won 1,121 races, and had brought many other mounts in to place and show.

He won the Belmont Futurity in 1925 on William R. Coe's "Pompey" and repeated the next year on Seap Flow. The 1926 Futurity win was worth $58,480 and the 1926 was good for $85,980.

His total winnings for his employers, including the Ross and Rancocas stables were estimated during the racing years at $2,408,720.

On May 8, 1925, at the Jamaica track, he won five races out of six. He had not entered the sixth.

Although he rode in the Kentucky Derby several times he never was able to win that classic.

Fator had a stable of seven horses for training at Belmont Park last winter, but sold six of them, and the time of his death was the owner of only one, a two-year-old filly.

Besides his wife, the noted jockey is survived by three sons, the eldest 13, and two brothers, Eddie and Mark Fator, who also are riders.
